THE INITIATIVE

BACKGROUND

Chicago's school-aged population hovers just under 450,000, representing approximately 17% of the city's population, with over 320,000 youth enrolled in Chicago Public Schools. Since 2021, the number of young people in Chicago has decreased, while varied negative health and crime statistics have increased over the same period. According to the city's violence reduction dashboard, the percentage of Chicago youth aged 0–19 experiencing a shooting or homicide has increased since 2021, with nearly 20% of youth exposed to increased incidents of violence in 2023.

While a downward trend in shootings and violence exposure for 20–29-year-olds over the same period offers some hope for our community, this is not the case for Chicago's youngest and most vulnerable population. It also does not represent the promise and potential we see for our youth across the city.

These data, as well as the extensive body of research on the positive impact of site-based youth and community development efforts has prompted the Lohengrin Foundation to launch, Thriving Youth, Stronger Communities, a youth and community center capital investment initiative.

ROOTED IN COMMUNITY

In designing Thriving Youth, Stronger Communities, the Lohengrin Foundation utilized a community-centered and data-informed approach to guide the development and implementation of all aspects of the initiative.

From listening sessions, data reviews and strategy feedback sessions, to the development of a Community Advisory Council to support the application review process, the Foundation is centering community, every step of the way.

The design of the initiative:

- Incorporates feedback from listening and learning sessions with over 40 community and youth leaders, grantee partners, peer funders, and organizational collaborators.
- Utilizes data from youth specific research findings and quality-of-life/community plans across Chicago, highlighting the needs of youth and the community at large.
- Embeds a robust due diligence process to ensure the guidelines and request for proposal process is equitable and accessible to applicants.
- Brings together an Advisory Council composed of community leaders, funders, youth leaders, and developers who will advise the Foundation's Staff and make recommendations on the application review and selection process.
- Engages an experienced network of nonprofit leaders with direct experience leading youth and community center development projects to serve as a peer network for applicants. All champions have successfully led projects from concept and fundraising to construction and occupancy.

ADVISORY COUNCIL

Together, they support community outreach efforts and advise the Lohengrin Foundation’s board of directors at each phase of the application review process.

GRANT SIZE & FUNDING SCHEDULE

The Foundation anticipates awarding one grant, totaling up to $15M, to support our grantee partner throughout the pre-development, construction, and occupancy phases of their project.

The grant award amount will be based on the full scope and size of the final project, including the number of youths to be served and potential community impact.

Funds are expected to be disbursed in five installments, aligned to various project phases, including:

THE INITIATIVE

TWO-STEP APPLICATION

The Lohengrin Foundation is pleased to announce the launch of Thriving Youth, Stronger Communities, a youth and community capital investment initiative.

Through this initiative, the Foundation seeks to offer capital and programmatic operating support to a nonprofit partner for the development or creation of a new youth and community center. We aim to serve as an early investor in a capital investment project leading to a comprehensive youth and community center.

This initiative includes a two-step proposal process for engaging with nonprofit partners to respond to the issues of violence that impacts Chicago's most vulnerable young people.

The Foundation is accepting Letters of Interest (LOIs) from nonprofit organizations or collaborations seeking to strengthen youth and community health, education, safety, and well-being outcomes by creating a new youth and community center. The LOI is the first step in the proposal process, followed by an invitation for select organizations to submit a complete application.

Nonprofit organizations with new, innovative, community-centered, and driven capital projects are strongly encouraged to apply.
